

Position: Philanthropy Director

Summary:

The Philanthropy Director is a member of the leadership team and is responsible for developing and executing comprehensive donor strategies to ensure effective communication, engagement, acquisition, and retention of all donors (including individual, institution, education, foundation, church, and business) and levels. The Philanthropy Director will collaborate closely with the leadership team to align philanthropic activities with organizational goals, drive cultural development, and support cross-functional initiatives. This role includes overseeing donor strategy development and implementation, engaging with prospective, first-time, recurring, high-capacity, and large-gift donors, as well as leading grant writing and managing relationships with grantors. The Philanthropy Director will also oversee a team to achieve fundraising goals and expand the organization's reach and impact in the community. This role reports to the CEO/President.

People Management:

This role may have supervisory responsibilities for various administrative and managerial staff directly reporting to it.

Compensation:

- Starting Salary Range: $75,000 - $90,000
- Level 6
- Annual Incentive Plan: 8% of annual salary

Essential Job Functions:

- Support integration of Biblical principles and a Christian worldview into leadership and operational practices.
- Support preparing people in under-resourced communities in life and work skills utilizing Biblical principles that help them with essential skills training, connections to resources and access to better job opportunities.
- Collaborate with the CEO/President, Board of Directors (including the Philanthropy Committee), and other leadership team members to align donor strategies with organizational goals.
- Develop and execute short-term and long-term strategies for donor acquisition, retention, and growth.
- Utilize data-driven insights to segment donors and tailor engagement strategies to meet their needs and interests, while also fostering increased support.
- Create and implement a donor journey framework that (1) nurtures first-time donors into recurring donors, (2) cultivates high-capacity and large-gift donors while fostering increased support, and (3) reinforces development of organizational champions that engage through prayer, service, learning, giving, and/or sharing.
- Partner with the CEO/President to cultivate major donor and prospect relationships, build strategic community partnerships, and represent Jobs Partnership to promote its mission and recruit organizational champions.
- Work with the Partnership and Program teams to develop and achieve cross-functional goals and metrics with key community, volunteer, church, education, and business relationships.

- Develop and manage tailored communication and recognition strategies for diverse donor segments—ensuring first-time donors are welcomed, recurring and major donors are appropriately acknowledged, and all receive timely, personalized, and impactful messaging.
- Prepare and distribute regular updates, newsletters, and reports to keep donors informed and engaged.
- Lead the full grant process by developing strategies to identify new opportunities, preparing and submitting compelling proposals, and collaborating with staff and leadership to ensure alignment with organizational priorities.
- Cultivate and steward strong relationships with grantors while tracking, reporting, and evaluating grant activities to strengthen future outcomes.
- Plan and execute comprehensive donor engagement strategies—including events, tours, personal visits, and targeted outreach—to cultivate new prospects and deepen existing relationships.
- Manage donor stewardship through personalized recognition, consistent communication, and effective use of donor management systems to track interactions, preferences, and giving history, encouraging sustained and increased support.
- Monitor donor activity to identify at-risk or lapsed supporters, and implement data-driven, personalized re-engagement strategies—tracking outcomes and refining approaches to strengthen donor retention.
- Lead, mentor, and develop a high-performing team, fostering a culture of collaboration, accountability, and continuous improvement.
- Conduct performance evaluations and provide feedback to staff, identifying training and development needs.
- Prepare and present regular reports on donor relations activities, progress, and outcomes.
- Participate in budgeting and financial planning processes related to donor relations and fundraising.
- Perform other related duties as assigned.
